

THE TRAIL BLAZER

THE INDIANAPOLIS HIKING CLUB
VOL 3 NO 1

A REVUE OF THE ACTIVITIES FOR THE 2 YEARS FROM OCTOBER 1, 1969 to OCTOBER 1, 1971

The Indianapolis Hiking Club completed 15 years of well rounded hiking activities on October 1, 1971. The club, which was formally organized in January 1957, has had a steady growth over the years. The membership as of the end of the fiscal year on October 1, 1971 was 201 members.

Many of the newer members may not be aware that the purpose of the club as defined by the club constitution shall be; the encouragement of the love of nature, the dissemination of knowledge of the attractions of the out-of-doors, the promotion of outdoor recreation in the form of hikes and outings, and the sponsoring of other activities incidental to the foregoing.

The club has been very fortunate in having as officers during the two years covered in this revue people who have been very dedicated in following the purposes of the club. The officers in 1970 were: President - John Williams, Vice-President - Tom Hill, Secretary - Kate Wicker (who during the year moved to Minneapolis and was ably replaced by Ruth Drach), Treasurer - Sylvia Retherford, Pathfinder - Ed Lavagnino, and directors - Peg Franzen, Lee Ramborger, Gerhard Busch, and Dora Buehler. During 1971 the officers were: President - Tom Hill, Vice-President - Jack Gainey, Treasurer - Joyce Archer, Secretary - Vi Hill, Pathfinder - Sylvia Retherford, and directors - Joe Lehman, Odie Cassetty, Lee Ramborger, and Peg Franzen.

During these two years the club had 9 overnights, 1 bus trip, 2 family picnics, 2 Christmas parties, 8 club socials, plus the regular Sunday scheduled hikes. Attached and starting with page 4 are listings of all of the hikes and overnights for each year, and also listings of the members, giving mileage information for each.

On October 11 and 12, 1969, Shakmak State Park was the scene of the fall overnight. Most stayed in housekeeping cabins, although a few camped in the campground. Shakamak is always beautiful in the fall, and the hiking was enjoyed by all. In the evening, the social activities in the log cabin recreation building was an outstanding success. Each group displayed their skill at making pumpkin faces, and the refreshments which were served around the huge fireplace after the evening's activities finished out a delightful day.

February 21 and 22, 1970 was the date of the next overnight at McCormicks Creek State Park, where the beautiful Canyon Inn was the site of the overnight lodging. Some 75 members and guests had a very enjoyable weekend of hiking. Perhaps the highlight of the social activities in the evening was shadow skit put on by some of our young people.

The next overnight was the joint meet with the Louisville Hiking Club at Mammoth Cave National Park in Kentucky on April 25 and 26, 1970. About 120 people from both clubs were present for some interesting hiking amid the beautiful scenery of the Park. The Indianapolis Hiking Club was the host club this year, and it was pleasant to meet with our good friends from Louisville. George and Marie Scobee did their usual good job Saturday evening in calling for the square dancing and getting nearly everyone to participate.

Natural Bridge State Park in eastern Kentucky was the scene of our Labor Day Weekend on September 5, 6, and 7, 1970. Over 40 people enjoyed the spectacular scenery of the park which is located in the Cumberland mountains.

Once again the members of the club spent a fall overnight at Shakamak State Park on October 10 and 11, 1970. About 60 members and guests enjoyed the gorgeous fall coloring and the perfect weather. One of the highlights was the halloween party Saturday evening as part of the activities.

The club went to Pokagon State Park for the weekend of February 27 and 28, 1971. Although there was no snow, the lake was frozen and many enjoyed skating there. Approximately 80 people were present for this outing of winter hiking and fun, and all enjoyed the stay at the lovely Potawatomi Inn on Lake James at the Park.

The Louisville Hiking Club was the host at the next overnight which was at Spring Mill State Park on April 24 and 25, 1971. With 94 people in attendance from our club, the joint attendance was over 150 people. The hiking was good, and the Louisville Club, as usual, had a well planned social evening, with George and Marie Scobee calling for the square dancing.

Memorial Day weekend, May 29, 30, and 31, 1971, found 42 members spending three lovely days at the Gnaw Bone Camp in Brown County. This camp situated in the hills near Brown County State Park, has much to offer to a club such as ours in the way of outdoor entertainment. The owners, Mr and Mrs. Fred Lorenz were superb hosts, and the ghost story in an old cabin, and a moonlight hay ride were two examples of the little extras they provided. There was lots of good hiking, boating on the lake, and bird watching.

Our last weekend of the two year period covered by this edition of the TRAIL BLAZER was on Labor Day at Pine Mountain State Park in Kentucky on September 4, 5, and 6, 1971. The Kentucky State Parks are all beautiful, different, and interesting, and Pine Mountain was a delight to all who attended this outing. It was a delightful weekend, and on Sunday a car caravan to Cumberland Gap National Historic Park nearby proved to be of interest to everyone - particularly the ice cold watermelon served at the noon luncheon in a picnic area nearby.

Many times groups of hiking club members take vacations together. In June of 1970 a group of 11 went backpacking in the Smoky Mountains. During the third week of August, 1970, a group of 17 took a one week vacation together at Isle Royal National Park in Lake Superior. During 1971 a couple of backpacking expeditions were made to the Smokies, once in June and again in October. Here is a write-up of one of the backpacking trips:

BACK PACKING THE APPALACHIAN TRAIL IN THE SMOKEY MOUNTAINS (By Sylvia Retherford)

On June 7, 1970, a group of Indianapolis Hiking Club members assembled at the Laurel Springs Motel in Cosby, Tennessee to begin the first group backpacking experience. Our party consisted of Bill and Nell Larrison, Ruth Overpeck, Tom and Vi Hill, Jack Gainey, Gerhard Busch, Mary Francis Milam, Kenneth, Frank and Sylvia Retherford.

Next morning at 6:00 A.M. we were ready to go by truck to Cades Cove, our trail head. It was a cold, windy ride in the back of a pick up, mercifully broken by breakfast in Gatlinburg. After much picture taking and adjusting of packs, we shouldered our loads and were underway toward Spence's Field on the Appalachian Trail. Noon found us lunching in the sun on the top of the ridge. By 3:00 P.M. we had topped Thunderhead Mountain, been enamoured by the view, and were on our way to the trail shelter at Derrick Knob. Our packs were heavy and new to our backs, so we all agreed that those were the hardest eleven miles any of us had ever hiked.

Dinner of unfamiliar packing food was wolfed down with enthusiasm and we heard no complaint of insomnia that night, in spite of the fact we slept on the ground sheltered by our ponchos. We had found a sensitivity session, so we were sung to sleep by their wistful, plaintive songs, accompanied by a guitar.

Breakfast of packing food and we were off on a sunny, dewy morning toward our next shelter at Silers Bald. Jack Gainey and Mary Francis Milam were early starters and took a wrong turn but a few yards from the camp and hiked an extra ten miles for their mistake. The rest of us arrived at our shelter at noon to find the trail crew cleaning it up ready for our occupancy. No other hikers had arrived, so it was all ours. There was a second shelter down by the spring. We hung our packs behind the bear proof steel mesh cabin front, and chose our beds from the fourteen hardware cloth bunks, unrolled our sleeping bags and flopped down for a nap before lunch.

The afternoon was spent lolling in front of our shelter in the forest. Water flowed from the spring over the hill and firewood was for the gathering. Many groups of hikers stopped to pass the time of day with us. Two high school senior girls chatted with us for awhile and decided to stay the night near the shelter. Fifteen boy scouts arrived late and nestled down a few hundred feet away.

The following morning four hours of hiking brought us to the 6600 foot Clingman's Dome and an array of tourists in their sporty clothes. Backpackers are a scroungy looking group after three days on the trail. One friendly couple gave some of us a ride the seven miles to Newfound Gap pass, and we were on our way to Laurel Springs Motel via the Appalachian Trail. Our group separated at this point with some of the members returning to the motel via automobile. The Retherfords and Jack Gainey continued on to Ice Water Springs, the Jump-off, and Charlie's Bunion. We had hiked sixty some miles five days from the southwest end of the park to the northeast end. Sixty miles of mountain ridges and hidden valleys graced with perfect weather and Indianapolis Hiking Club companions was an unbeatable combination.

When you read the list of hikes over the past 2 years, you will note the variety in our scheduled Sunday hikes - something for everyone. The hikes varied from 2 miles to 22 miles in length - from downtown city hikes to primitive forest areas - from bus trips to cave explorations. Variety is the spice of life and also of hiking trails. If you know of an interesting place for us to visit and hike, please let the pathfinder know. Some of our members may be able to get permission to hike over private property where the club has not hiked before. We need your help in arranging new and unusual places in the planning of hikes, and overnights.

Over the last couple of years there was much interest in the attainment of mileage goals by many of the members, and a sense of satisfaction was felt on achieving the 100 mile patch, and the 200, 300, 400, and 500 mile crescents to add to the patch. Starting December 1, 1970, the club also maintained records of members' children under 18 for the presentation of mileage awards.

Hiking along the many interesting trails in the varied outdoor areas of our great Hoosier State of Indiana with congenial companions, discovering the appeal of the little unexpected things along the way, watching the birds, finding some wild strawberries or blueberries, stopping for a trail lunch, and the sharing of such experiences with others, is a reward all its own to hikers who heed the call of mother nature.

JOIN WITH US - Pick the hike that suits you - and find peace and relaxation away from the normal routine of your everyday life.
